

DETECTIVE DYING, SHOT ASSAILANT

William McDonald Mortally Wounded Man Who Broke His Skull.

In a fight that followed an attempt on the part of the police to arrest a man accused of stabbing another in Grand street, Brooklyn, to-day, two men were so severely injured that it is thought they are dying in the Eastern District Hospital. One is Detective William McDonald, of the Bedford avenue police station, and the other is Stanislaus Valliugutsky.

The policeman's skull is fractured and he is cut about the head and face in a dozen places. Valliugutsky is suffering from a bullet wound in the abdomen. Two others, Felix Rasch, a detective of the Bedford avenue station, and John Anderson, are suffering from minor wounds in the hospital.

Anderson, who lives at North Seventh street and Wythe avenue, entered the police station early to-day and said he had been stabbed by some one at a wedding celebration at the Palace Hotel, No. 33 and 34 Grand street. He asked that some one be sent to arrest the man who did the stabbing. Near the place they saw Stanislaus Milien, who was pointed out by Anderson as the man who did the stabbing.

Milien was placed under arrest, and the crowd that gathered around the police with whatever weapons they could lay their hands upon. One of them made a raid in a back yard and obtained a shovel. This was used to knock down McDonald, and the blow from it is supposed to have been the one that fractured his skull.

While lying on the ground McDonald was attacked again and fired his revolver. The bullet struck Valliugutsky. Enraged at the shooting of their companion, the others would have killed McDonald, had not Rasch remained by his side clung to his shoulder and at the same time threatening to kill any one who struck the prostrate man, who was unable to rise.

The news of the fight was carried to the police station, and the reserves rushed to the place. They arrived in time to arrest six of the crowd, in addition to the man to whom Rasch had clung.

Detective Fired in Self-Defense.

Rasch was found to have received a minor wound in the chin and several other minor cuts. Ambulances were called and the wounded men removed there. Several of the men arrested were also badly beaten by the police and had their injuries dressed by the ambulance surgeons.

All the men arrested are Poles. The wedding celebration was one that had been continued over from the night before, and the police say all the men arrested had been drinking. They were held in court to await the result of the injuries of the policeman, whose attorney's statement along with that of the man he shot has been taken by the coroner.

McDonald says he had been fired when he did not would have been killed, as one of the men was about to brain him with an axe handle.

HELD UP AND ROBBED BY TWO BOLD THIEVES

John J. Hughes Attacked at Central Park West and Eighty-Third Street.

Held up by two highwaymen just after he had left a north-bound Eighth avenue car at Central Park West and Eighty-third street early to-day, John J. Hughes, a musician living in the apartment-house at No. 23 West Eighty-third street, was robbed of $300 in cash and other valuables, and brutally beaten on the head with the butt of a revolver. He is at his home in a serious condition, and relatives would not let reporters see him to-day.

Hughes's assailants, of whom he was able to give only a very vague description, escaped into the park. Detectives of the West Sixty-eighth street station, under the direction of Capt. Conroy, are looking for the robbers.

At the point where Hughes left the car, the walk between the street and the park wall is not very well lighted, and there are bushes just inside the wall. The car had gone swiftly on and was two or three blocks away as Hughes turned to cross the track to the west side of the street. As he turned his back to the wall the two robbers sprang upon him and dragged him back into the shadow. His outcries were silenced by a clutch upon his throat, and his struggles ended after several blows on the back of his head with the butt of a revolver.

Hughes's cries when the robbers attacked him were heard by Patrolmen Hosen and Schneider, of the West Sixty-eighth street station, whose beats join at Eighty-third street. They reached the spot just after the robbers had disappeared in the park. They found Hughes lying in the shadow under the wall. He was just able to moan feebly, but after attendance by an ambulance surgeon from Roosevelt Hospital he managed to tell what had happened to him. He was taken home.

The officers of the Lucia said the steamer had been moving along at greatly reduced speed all day yesterday because of the impenetrable fog which hung low over the sea. Suddenly, at 6:30 o'clock last evening, the lookout sighted a big sailing vessel almost in the steamer's path, under full sail and ploughing along at a fast clip before a heavy breeze.

The steamer's whistle sounded a quick warning, her engines were reversed and the wheel was thrown far over in an effort to slip past the oncoming schooner. An instant later, however, the Eagle Wing bore down upon the Lucia, and the vessels came together with a crash. The schooner struck the Lucia on the port bow and an instant after the shock died off and disappeared in the fog.

The Eagle Wing is bound from Boston for a coal port. She was built at Kennebunkport, Me., in 1891 and is of 1,076 net tons.

VESSELS COLLIDE IN HEAVY FOG

Austrian Steamer Lucia and Fall River Schooner Eagle Wing Scrape a Damaging Acquaintance Sixty Miles Out.

News of a narrowly-avoided tragedy at sea was brought here by the Austrian steamer Lucia, which arrived to-day from Mediterranean ports.

The Lucia reported that she was in collision yesterday with the big four-masted Fall River schooner Eagle Wing about sixty miles south-southeast of Sandy Hook Lightship, but that neither of the vessels sustained fatal damage.

That one or the other did not go to the bottom was due more to good fortune than anything else, according to the story told by the Lucia's officers, as the Eagle Wing was travelling at a tremendous speed through dense fog when the crash came. Only the fact that the blow was a glancing one prevented the tragedy. As it was, the schooner's jib boom was torn away.

The Lucia's immense derrick on the forward deck was snapped off and her rails and bridge were smashed as the Eagle Wing's fore rigging swept along the side. The telegraph from the steamer's bridge to her engine room also was put out of commission. As the schooner slipped away and disappeared in the fog, she signalled that none of her crew had been injured, and that all of her damage was above the water line.

The officers of the Lucia said the steamer had been moving along at greatly reduced speed all day yesterday because of the impenetrable fog which hung low over the sea. Suddenly, at 6:30 o'clock last evening, the lookout sighted a big sailing vessel almost in the steamer's path, under full sail and ploughing along at a fast clip before a heavy breeze.

The steamer's whistle sounded a quick warning, her engines were reversed and the wheel was thrown far over in an effort to slip past the oncoming schooner. An instant later, however, the Eagle Wing bore down upon the Lucia, and the vessels came together with a crash. The schooner struck the Lucia on the port bow and an instant after the shock died off and disappeared in the fog.

The Eagle Wing is bound from Boston for a coal port. She was built at Kennebunkport, Me., in 1891 and is of 1,076 net tons.

Coffee Hurt You?

No need to get mad now, tear up the paper, or shout "nonsense, good coffee never hurt any one."

You know better than that for you can point out all around you folks who are the worse for coffee's slugging. Think over a few coffee-drinking friends and casually inquire if they are entirely and perfectly well and just how coffee treats them.

If it hurts others isn't it just possible?

Catch the drift, don't you?

In fact after you have studied the matter a bit it will come plain that if you are a coffee drinker the chances are you already have some form of incipient or perhaps fixed organic disease due entirely to the coffee—constipation, rheumatism, eye trouble, nervous headaches, nervous prostration or others of the well proven coffee ails. You can decline to look the thing squarely in the face and peg along with the coffee. Some day Nature will haul you up SHORT!

IT'S A POOR BARGAIN

to swap health and a clear, business-like head, for a few cups of coffee each day.

Every coffee toper tries to wiggle round and charge his aches and ails to weather, overwork, too much or too little food, this, that or the other thing, so it isn't his Master, coffee.

A Sure Personal Test

will locate the exact cause of your steady destruction of health, if that cause be coffee. It's worth knowing the plain, sober fact before fixed organic, heart or other disease sets in, which perhaps cannot be cured. The test is pleasant, accurate and satisfying. Quit coffee absolutely for 10 days and in its place use Postum.

BE SURE the Postum is properly boiled as per directions on pkg. (and that's easy) then you have the famous Food Coffee, with the deep seal brown which turns to rich golden brown when rich cream is added and the flavor is crisp, snappy and soft like the high grades of Old Gov't Java. If in two or three days you begin to sleep soundly at night, digest your food better, stomach and bowels show signs of recovery, or the old feeling of weakness at the heart leaves, or eyes get stronger and head works clearer, (the ails of coffee drugging are multitudinous) the facts will be before you and

YOU HAVE THE ANSWER,

POSTUM COFFEE

10 days.

"There's a Reason."

Get the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in each pkg.
